Curriculum Connections: Social Sciences & Humanities, Health and Physical Education, Drama, Equity and Inclusive Education

Themes: Homophobia, Mental Health/Teen Suicide, Cyberbullying, Gay-Straight Alliances

Three friends. Two high schools. One lunch hour. Outside is the story of Daniel, a teen who triumphs over homophobic bullying, depression and suicide. During a meeting of the Gay Straight Alliance (GSA) at his new school Daniel shares his story. Meanwhile, at his old school, struggling to come to terms with what happened, his friends Krystina and Jeremy attempt to start their own GSA. Using flashbacks, we travel through Daniel's harrowing experience of bullying that began with a taunt and a text message and eventually led to a serious physical assault.

This is what our kids need! Lecturing them on rules and issues in the abstract has little impact - but this play made the issues real. I wish we could have this production back every two years.

Every young person deserves to feel safe at school. Sadly, this is not always the case for our LGBTQ youth, many of whom endure hateful comments and abuse. Outside uses the power of theatre to illustrate the devastating impact of homophobic bullying. Every student and teacher should see it.
